HUMAN VS. HAMSTER

Which species is superior?

In this highly entertaining, never-before-seen physical competition - hosted by Saturday Night Live cast member, comedian and actress Sarah Sherman and football commentator Kyle Brandt - extraordinary hamsters take on exceptional humans in an epic battle to determine which species reigns supreme.

TV star Brian Balthazar acts as the resident hamster enthusiast, commenting as the world's most remarkable pet hamsters go toe-to-toe with teams of humans in scaled challenges that will test their speed, strength, agility - and, of course, their eating prowess. The team that wins the most challenges against the hamsters moves on to an epic obstacle course - The Cage - where they must escape before the hamsters to win. Can the humans nail it? Or will the hamsters have it by a whisker?

THE LIST

A high-octane and unpredictable comedy travel show

Jack and Falcon from The Inspired Unemployed are heading overseas and out of their comfort zones, but they have no idea where they're going or what they're doing. However, upon arrival in each location, any dream bucket list of things they might want to do is replaced by a nightmare list - written in the local language - of things they must do. Some are physically demanding, some are emotionally draining, and others are just plain awkward. But all are hilarious!

We'll see them training with Japanese mountain monks, becoming Mermen of Malaysia and stalking (or being stalked by) bears in Finland. Along the way, they'll also learn obscure martial arts, endure excruciating native medical treatments and perform for huge crowds against their will. Can they fulfil The List in every episode?

FATAL FLIGHT: SHOREHAM

Anatomy of a disaster and its aftermath

When a fighter jet crashed into a busy main road during The Shoreham Air Show in Britain, killing 11 people, and injuring many more, it stunned a nation and changed the lives of those involved forever. But the crash was just the start of the story.

Miraculously, the pilot survived, but soon, questions were being asked about whether his flying was to blame for the crash. Using shocking footage captured by spectators and from the crash scene, this is the definitive story of the disaster, its aftermath, and the victims' families' fight for justice and the truth.

PARANORMAL II: THE VILLAGE THAT SAW ALIENS

Is the truth out there?

In this second gripping season of the Paranormal strand, presenter Sian Eleri travels to west Wales to investigate the UFO sighting by 14 schoolboys in 1977 that led to a wave of reports of close encounters and claims of Britain's biggest mass sighting.

While on a hunt to track down the schoolboys, Sian comes across a shocking tape of hotelier Rosa, who saw a spaceship land and two 'creatures' appear - weeks before the school sighting. Digging deeper, her mind is blown to discover reports of hundreds of UFO sightings across the region. Could they all have imagined the same object? As she talks to witnesses and delves into archives - some once classified - her search for answers raises unsettling questions about secret military testing, evidence of a craft that defines human capabilities, conspiracy theories and whistleblowers in the US.

PARANORMAL: THE GIRL, THE GHOST & THE GRAVESTONE

A real-life supernatural suspense story

In the first season of this gripping anthology series, presenter Sian Eleri investigates a seemingly ordinary farmhouse in North Wales not far from her childhood home which, in the late 1990s, became known as the most haunted house in Britain. Words and pictures were said to appear and disappear from the walls; objects moved around the house and multiple witnesses reported seeing a hooded figure and the ghost of a girl rumoured to be buried in the garden.

The story became the centre of a national media storm as the family who lived there became ever more desperate in their search for answers. More than 300 apparently paranormal events were documented at the house in video footage, audio interviews, photos, and eye-witness accounts – all of which have been locked away, until now. With exclusive access to this archive and to those at the heart of the case, Sian sets out to uncover what really happened at Penyffordd Farm. Her starting position is one of scepticism but in a series of chilling and increasingly bizarre twists and turns, Sian is left questioning everything she thought she knew..

D-DAY: THE UNHEARD TAPES

The story of the D-Day invasion as it's never been told before

Coinciding with the 80th anniversary of D-Day in 2024, the team behind the BAFTA-nominated series AIDS: The Unheard Tapes relives one of the most extraordinary days in the history of modern warfare through the incredible preserved audio testimony of those who experienced the D-Day invasion first-hand.

The tapes are of recorded interviews with British, American and German soldiers, plus French witnesses, and many have never been heard publicly before. They are now brought back to life by a cast of young actors lip-syncing the real voices in documentary settings, combined with archival footage and immersive re-creation of the memories they recount. The result is raw, revealing and uniquely personal, with these powerful oral histories recalling incredible moments of bravery, fear, strategy, chaos and split-second decision-making, telling the story of what it was like to live through the unfolding invasion.

AIDS: THE UNHEARD TAPES

A powerful and moving look at the early days of the AIDS crisis

AIDS: The Unheard Tapes tells the story of the British AIDS crisis as it's never been told before. At a time when homophobia and discrimination were commonplace, few people could talk openly about their experiences of this mysterious and devastating disease. But as the crisis grew, a small group of pioneering researchers recorded audio interviews with infected gay men and their friends - frank and intimate accounts of life at the heart of the epidemic that were archived in the British Library and had never been broadcast.

These contemporaneous testimonies, lip-synced by actors who closely resemble the young men they're portraying, sit at the heart of this powerful series. Alongside them are interviews with activists, scientists, doctors and nurses who lived, worked and campaigned throughout the crisis to raise awareness, fight prejudice and find ways to treat the devastating virus, before each episode reveals who survived and who did not.

BRITAIN BEHIND BARS: A SECRET HISTORY

Social history insights revealed by prisons and prisoners

In this new series, criminal barrister and presenter Robert Rinder journeys across Britain to uncover the hidden past of three high-profile prisons, each with a fascinating history that stretches back centuries.

At the notorious HMP Dartmoor in Devon, Robert discovers how it gained its fearsome reputation and what happens when a brutal regime pushes prisoners to the limit of their endurance. At Shrewsbury Prison in Shropshire, he explores a dark chapter in Britain's criminal past: capital punishment. It was here where the reign of Britain's most infamous dynasty of hangmen began - the Pierrepoint Family. While in Shepton Mallet in Somerset, as well as examining the impact of the short sentences traditionally served here, he uncovers that the prison once housed two of Britain's most notorious gangsters - the legendary Kray Twins.

SURANNE JONES: WITCHES

A new perspective on historic witch trials

In this fascinating documentary, BAFTA-winning actor Suranne Jones (Vigil, Doctor Foster) goes on an epic, international journey to discover the real story behind the most infamous witch trials in history. Why did women become the scapegoats for all the world's problems and how do these witchcraft accusations still resonate today.

In Pendle, England, Suranne uncovers the real story behind one of the most notorious mass executions for witchcraft in English history. She also travels to Salem in America and Bamberg in Germany - the epicentre of the brutal witch trials that swept across Europe 400 years ago.

Suranne discovers the shadow this historical horror story has cast over women's lives for hundreds of years and despite history continually repeating itself, how women are now reclaiming the notion of the witch and witchcraft as a positive force in their lives.

FBOY ISLAND

A bingeable dating series where the women may fail to spot the good guys

Three confident and smart women in search of love move to a tropical island to be greeted by 24 men. Twelve are considerate and trustworthy nice guys and 12 are FBoys; self-proclaimed players who really don't think they need to change their ways.

Over the course of the series, hosted by comedian Nikki Glaser, the women navigate the dating pool together in the hope of each finding a nice guy. Eliminated nice guys get to relax in the nice guy grotto while eliminated FBoys spend their time in LimBRO, where Nikki gives them daily lessons on being a nice guy – ahead of an explosive return in the penultimate episode. In the final, will any of the women mistakenly choose an FBoy and if so, will he steal the prize money and ditch her?

FGIRL ISLAND

It's time to 'flip the script' and celebrate women in control!

In the new version of this unique social experiment-meets-dating show hosted by Nikki Glaser, the tables are well and truly turned. Three handsome men looking for love move to a tropical island, where they are joined by 24 women. Half are self-proclaimed 'nice girls', also looking for love, while half are FGirls: sexually liberated, ambitious, and empowered women, used to deploying their feminine wiles - and guile - to get exactly what they want.

The men live together, having frank conversations about what they want. But, usually less sophisticated than their female counterparts, they become rivals as the women - both nice and FGirls - play them against each other for sport. After regular eliminations across the entertaining and frequently comical series, only six women will remain in the finale. Will any of the men choose an FGirl for a partner? And if so, will she steal the prize money for herself and drop him?

PARIS IN LOVE

From the single life to wife

International celebrity, business mogul, activist and one of the world's most eligible bachelorettes, Paris Hilton, is finally ready to walk down the aisle with her true love, venture capitalist Carter Reum. In the first season of this fascinating docu-series, we get a VIP pass to follow Paris as she prepares for the big day - everything from bridal dress shopping and choosing the venue to designing her dream wedding and participating in a fun and crazy bachelorette party.

Always entertaining and emotional, the whirlwind ride continues in season two as Paris and Carter set about planning to be parents with the help of a surrogate - while keeping everything secret from their families. We watch Paris embrace motherhood with the arrival of son Pheonix and then follow the ups and downs as she releases a memoir and revives her singing career - all ahead of deciding to refocus her priorities on her family.

TRENTENAIRES

When friends become family

Trentenaires (30 Somethings) follows the lives of six friends in their 30s who all live in the same city. They've been inseparable since their party years when they worked together in the bar 'Chez Enzo', sticking by each other through life's ups and downs and major milestones. A great deal has happened in the past 15 years and together they have overcome many obstacles.

Now, with everyone in their mid-thirties, the group is at a turning point. Life is more complex as they each wrestle with the varied challenges that come with their age and family situation, from relationship angst and fertility issues to career worries and the problem of ageing parents – and secrets big and small have started to emerge. All of which puts the whole group to the test. Will they remain friends for life, or will life come between their friendship?

PRETTY LITTLE LIARS (INDONESIA)

Secrets, lies and betrayals threaten everything they hold dear

Filled with mystery, scandal, intrigue and nail-biting suspense, this version of the popular US series follows the lives of four teenagers - Aria, Ema, Hanna and Sabrina - who believe their secrets are safe forever when their best friend, Alissa, mysteriously vanishes. Their friendship dwindles in the aftermath but, one year on, they are reunited at university in Bali and start to receive terrorising messages from someone claiming to be 'A'.

These messages contain their deepest secrets, which only Alissa knows, so they believe her to be the sender. But soon, Alissa's body is found. Aware that their secrets could be considered a motive for her murder, the girls then block all messages from 'A'. They assume that cutting all forms of communication with 'A' will save them from future troubles, but 'A' is still able to manipulate them in other ways...

THE MENTALIST (KOREA)

Let the mind games begin...

Award-winning actor Si-Hoo Park stars as Je In, an unconventional yet brilliant psychiatrist with a tendency towards theatrics and a blatant lack of protocol. Je In is brought in as an investigative advisor for Special Crimes Team 3, led by the charismatic, no-nonsense Ye-Seo Tae, alongside agents Jung-Tae Kim, Won-Chang Jeon and rookie agent Woo-Ri Go. The team thinks Je In is a loose cannon, but admire his charm and razor-sharp observation skills. The unit sets out to catch Chiwoo, a serial killer whose leaves a smiley face drawn in the blood of his victims at each crime scene. Haunted by the tragic murder of his wife and daughter by Chiwoo, Je In must confront his own inner demons and find solace amidst the chaos of his tumultuous past.

The Mentalist (Korea) offers a captivating blend of crime-solving, psychological intrigue, and character-driven storytelling. With a touch of humour, suspense, and a dose of emotion, the series takes viewers on a thrilling journey through the complex mind of Je In as he seeks redemption, justice, and closure in a world where nothing is as it seems.
