HARRY POTTER: WIZARDS OF BAKING

An incredible - and edible - celebration of the magical world of Harry Potter

In this ground-breaking new cookery competition format, pairs of innovative pastry chefs and cake artists come together on the enchanting sets of the Warner Bros. studios to craft spellbinding sweet creations inspired by Harry Potter and his magical world.

Hosted by stars of the Harry Potter movies, the culinary artists will be challenged to draw inspiration from their surroundings - such as The Great Hall or Platform 9^¾ - to create their masterpieces. And it's here, amongst these incredible backdrops, that they will be judged by a panel of professionals, as well as special guests, including alumni from the films who will share anecdotes and behind-the-scenes insights. Which team will best tantalise the taste buds and offer a truly immersive and magical experience that combines Harry Potter brilliance with culinary creativity?

FAST FRIENDS

Could this BE any more challenging?

In celebration of the 30th anniversary of the beloved sitcom Friends, this new challenge format – part game show and part escape room – invites fans to put their deep knowledge of the series to the test. Each episode sees three teams of two – maybe a couple, flatmates, and best friends (sound familiar?) compete against the clock and each other to make it from the Central Park Fountain via a selection of the series' iconic sets for a final showdown on the Central Perk sofa.

As the teams run the gauntlet, they'll be challenged with rounds such as What happened next? Who said what? What is missing in Monica's apartment? There'll be clues from celebrity fans and even 'Wicked Wango' hint cards if they get stuck. The fastest team from each episode meets in the final to see who will be crowned the Ultimate Friends Fans.

24 IN 24: LAST CHEF STANDING

The world's toughest cookery competition!

Chefs often describe their jobs as full-on 24/7, but no cookery competition has ever captured that knock-down, drag-out intensity—until now! Part culinary marathon and part social experiment, this dramatic format pits 24 chefs against each other with 24 challenges over 24 non-stop hours.

Across rolling three-hour shifts, the chefs are set challenges that test culinary skills such as speed, artistry and adaptability – while looking to deliver incredible dishes that impress the hosts and special guest judges. With twists, curveballs, and difficult techniques that border on the impossible once exhaustion sets in, which four chefs will stave off elimination to reach the final? Dead on their feet, they will have to then cook the best dish of their lives if they are to impress the judges and win a cash prize and an unforgettable holiday on which to recover!

THE LIST

A high-octane and unpredictable comedy travel format

In each episode, two comedic presenters head overseas and out of their comfort zones with no idea of where they're going or what they're doing. However, upon arrival in each new location, any dream bucket list of things they might want to do is replaced by a nightmare list - written in the local language - of things they must do. Some are physically demanding, some are emotionally draining, and others are just plain awkward. But all are hilarious!

They could be made to train with Japanese mountain monks, become Mermen of Malaysia and stalk (or be stalked by) bears in Finland. Along the way, they'll also have to learn obscure martial arts, endure excruciating native medical treatments and perform for huge crowds against their will. Can they fulfil The List in every episode?

IMPRACTICAL JOKERS

Pranks and punishments – all played out in public

In his hugely successful, always hilarious, hidden camera format, four comedian friends compete in unbelievably awkward social experiments directed by each other via earpieces.

Challenges could include eating food off other people's plates at a top restaurant or deliberately making a bad impression while speed-dating. The loser endures one final embarrassing task: it could be a big public spectacle, a hilarious one-on-one encounter, a gross act of humiliation or any combination thereof!

SING AGAIN

Can forgotten performers steal the spotlight and make it big second time around?

Once famous but now forgotten singers are given a last chance to prove their talent and step into the spotlight. The format features talented contestants from various singing backgrounds - from one-hit-wonders to former child stars and broken-up band members. They have all released at least one album, but lasting success has eluded them - and although you will know their music, you won't know them.

Over four elimination rounds and a range of challenges, a panel of expert judges will put the singers - known only by a number, and with their identity hidden - through their paces. In the final round, the remaining singers will earn the right to reveal their names to the public - but only one of them can win the competition and, with it, the glory to truly Sing Again.

LOTERÍA LOCA

The brilliant bingo-style game that brings the party home!

Bring the party feel of a Mexican fiesta in this funny, fast-paced and family-friendly hosted game show format. Two contestants are given unique bingo-style cards featuring a range of characters and objects, all of which are also hidden behind numbers on the Lotería game board. Each image is worth a varying amount of cash. The object is to bank money and get a Lotería (three-in-a-row) on the board.

The first player to complete two Loterías (rows of three) moves to the dramatic final round, where the game and its difficulty are supersized. With a chance to win $1 million, the contestant only has four lives and can walk away with banked cash whenever they score a Lotería (now four-in-a-row). THE WHEEL

A truly revolutionary, feel-good, and funny game show!

Hosted by a witty, popular star, this ratings-winning, fun, and chat-filled studio gameshow is set inside a giant revolving wheel. Every week, seven celebrities are put in a spin to help contestants win cash prizes. Each celebrity sits in a question category zone, mostly where they are seen to be an expert, e.g. a footballer covers sports, a singer pop music - but there will be some surprises, too!

Three contestants battle it out to sit in the middle of the wheel and correctly answer general knowledge questions from each category. But will spins of The Wheel land on the right celebrity to help? Bonus rounds to boost the prize pot and 'nudges' to land on the expert celebrity move the gameplay up a gear as the show progresses. The contestant at the centre of The Wheel at the end has the chance to win a life-changing sum of money.

JUNGLE DADS

Survival school tough love puts father-child relationships to the test

In this social experiment reality format, an explorer/adventurer who believes that leaving the 21st century behind and living in a challenging wilderness environment can help build strong relationships – and make soft, risk-averse dads into more adventurous role models - puts his theory into practice.

Six ordinary dads and their kids live together in an expedition base in a remote tropical jungle, venturing out to nearby waterfalls, temples, and islands for dangerous and dramatic daily challenges that could include abseiling down cliff faces or navigating an ancient cave complex. Being pushed to their physical and psychological limits and being required to pull together encourages the kids and dads to not only toughen up and reappraise each other and their relationship but also reflect on their futures back home.

DRIVING LESSONS

Fascinating lives lived out behind the wheel

Featuring a regular cast of driving instructors based in different areas of the country, each with varied student bases, e.g. women, disabled people, this format follows our lead characters as they teach people of all ages and backgrounds – and with varying aptitudes – to learn to drive.

Several cameras placed inside and outside the training cars capture cities and countryside passing by, first lessons, final lessons before a driving test and everything in between. They also reveal all the tension, laughter, tears, frustration, accidents and victories – not to mention intimate conversations and personal stories – that make this daily obs-doc format so compelling. Each episode ends with a climax, witnessing if a person has passed or failed their test.

THE GOLDEN BACHELORETTE

Searching for a second chance at love

Following the huge success of The Golden Bachelor, later-life love is put in the spotlight once again – but now, it's a woman's turn to step into the golden spotlight and shine as she searches for a partner to help share her future.

This latest spin-off format from The Bachelor franchise takes one remarkable woman looking for a new love story, possibly after bereavement or divorce, and offers her a second chance at love. She's still got a lot of life – and love – to give to the right person, but will any of the men in the mansion be 'the one' to ignite a spark and see love grow? At the end of the series, will our 'Golden Girl' find the perfect partner for the next phase of her life?

THE BACHELOR

The smash hit format where a man hopes to find the woman of his dreams

One of the world's most popular and enduring dating shows: an eligible bachelor meets a group of women, all potential romantic interests, from which he hopes to find the love of his life. He gets to know the 25 women through a series of dates and romantic challenges held in a range of stunning locations.

Each week, as tension builds and connections are made - or broken - one unlucky lady is eliminated during the famous rose ceremony, until only two remain. In a dramatic final, the bachelor must decide which is the woman of his dreams and if he wants to propose.

BOYS LIKE BOYS

Young men put their hearts on the line to find true love

In this authentic and refreshing unscripted reality dating format that's all about romance, relationships and representation, eight gay guys live together in a luxury house for a week in the hope of finding love. They get to know each other by going on dates, participating in games and sharing their challenges and experiences as gay men. There are also 'Secret Talk' phone calls and recorded messages with the objects of their affection.

Avoiding the trend for structured reality, there's no manufactured drama or eliminations, just the hope that the romantic surroundings and series of activities will make true love flourish. At the end of this honest and sweet LGBTQ+ format, who can deal best with hard choices and real emotions, and who will end up with reciprocal matches in the finale and get to take a 'honeymoon' trip?

FBOY ISLAND

They're looking for a good guy - but will they fall for a bad boy?

In this compelling and unique social experiment-meets-dating format, three women looking for love move to a tropical island where they are joined by 24 men. 12 are self-proclaimed 'nice guys' also looking for love, while 12 are FBoys, major players with no interest in changing their ways - and with their eyes on the cash prize.

The women navigate the dating pool together, trying to work out who the nice guys are to save. As the men get eliminated, the nice guys get to relax in the Nice Guy Grotto while the FBoys go to LimBRO. Here, the series host gives them daily lessons on being a nice guy - ahead of an explosive return in the penultimate episode. In the final, we'll see if FBoys can reform or if nice guys always finish last. Will any of the women choose an FBoy for a partner? And if so, will he steal the prize money and ditch her?

FGIRL ISLAND

It's time to 'flip the script' and celebrate women in control!

The tables are well and truly turned in this unique social experiment-meets-dating format, with three handsome men looking for love moving to a tropical island and joined by 24 women. Half are self-proclaimed 'nice girls', also looking for love, while half are FGirls: sexually liberated, ambitious and empowered women, used to deploying their feminine charms – and guile – to get exactly what they want.

The men live together, having frank conversations about what they want. But, usually less sophisticated than their female counterparts, they are likely to become rivals as the women – both nice and FGirls – play them against each other for sport. With eliminations throughout, only six women remain in the finale of this entertaining and frequently comical series. Will any of the men choose an FGirl for a partner? And if so, will she steal the prize money for herself and drop him?

REALITY QUEENS

Competing reality stars are tested outside of their comfort zones

This explosive and hilarious format challenges 12 ladies, known for appearances in previous reality shows and their social media influence, to turn their backs on their lives of luxury, ready for an 'off-grid', culture shock adventure. Divided into two teams, each driven by an elected leader, they embark on a gruelling journey back to civilisation, competing in assignments to help save them from elimination.

They are tested on anything from physical strength and puzzle-solving skills to their ability to eat truly unpleasant dishes, with assignment wins delivering luxury treats such as comfy beds or private chefs. They also win cash. In the final, two queens remain for a battle where one person's strength, endurance and knowledge will see them crowned Queen and go home with all the money that's been earned.

STAR VS FOOD

Can famous faces surprise their friends with restaurant-standard cooking?

In each episode of this warm and entertaining cooking format, a celebrity invites their friends or family members to join them for dinner at a leading restaurant. However, what the guests don't realise is the celebrity, not known for their culinary skills, will have helped cook the meal.

Cameras follow the celebrity as they work with a popular chef in their restaurant kitchen. Viewers listen in as they chat, share anecdotes, and discuss the recipe. Then, when the celebrity sits down to eat with their guests, will any guess their involvement? If not, what will the verdict be when all is revealed? And what new insights will viewers have gained about their favourite stars after seeing them at work in the kitchen and relaxing with their friends?

STAR VS FOOD: SURVIVAL

Celebrities take an unforgettable culinary journey

Mixing three key ingredients - adventure, cooking and celebrity interviews - every episode of this format starts with a celebrity chef and two stars dropped into a remote location. Stepping out of their comfort zones, the celebrities are challenged to conquer the wilderness by taking on thrilling survival challenges, including anything from white-water rafting and abseiling to crossing rivers and mountain climbing.

They are also encouraged to try unusual local delicacies along the way and forage for wild ingredients that, with the chef's help, can be transformed into mouth-watering dishes. Expect excitement, beautiful scenery, plus heart-warming stories and insights - and, of course, delicious dishes - as the chef and their celebrity guests explore, chat and cook together.
